Protest at Stamford Planned Parenthood Facility on August 22

STAMFORD, CT, 8/21/15 — In light of recent revelations that Planned Parenthood has been harvesting and selling aborted baby parts, Generation for Life is calling for a protest at the Planned Parenthood facility at 1039 East Main Street, Stamford CT on August 22 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. This effort is part of a National Day of Protest taking place at over 300+ Planned Parenthood offices and abortion facilities all across the United States (<http://www.protestpp.com>) to raise awareness about Planned Parenthood's trafficking of aborted baby parts.

Undercover videos (see links below) released by the Center for Medical Progress reveal that Planned Parenthood abortion clinics, with the sanction of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, are involved in the harvesting of body parts of unborn children aborted in their facilities and profiting from their sale contrary to federal laws prohibiting such practices. The videos show high-level Planned Parenthood executives haggling over the prices of fetal specimens. The videos also raise ethical questions about the exploitation of unborn children for financial gain and risks to women's health if abortion procedures are altered solely to procure more profitable specimens.

As a consequence of this public scandal, several states have initiated investigations of Planned Parenthood and legislation has been introduced in Congress to defund the abortion giant. Planned Parenthood currently receives over $500 million in taxpayer funding annually.

Planned Parenthood is located in large and small communities all across America. Each community with a Planned Parenthood abortion clinic or satellite office needs to take action against the killing of babies and the trafficking of their body parts. Concerned local citizens from Stamford and its neighboring towns will be sending the message that it's well past time for Planned Parenthood to be run out of town!"
